Ross MacLean: A native of Halifax, Nova Scotia, Ross MacLean has travelled the world playing, coaching, scouting and learning the game of hockey. Ross has done work or worked for the IIHF, Hockey Canada, various international federations, national and provincial U18, U17, U16 and U14 programs and has worked as a professional skills coach with players from all ages and levels, including pros and NHL players.

Dean Seymour: One of the best (mostly) hidden gems in Western Canada, Dean Seymour has parlayed a solid playing career, that saw him play in several European leagues after displaying his offensive prowess in the SJHL and NCAA, into a highly accomplished tenure as a skill and player development coach. Svend Wiele: Originally from the Eastern side of the wall in Berlin, Svend grew up in a tale of two times in his native Germany. Despite the odds, Svend progressed his way through the German hockey ranks, eventually representing the nation at several IIHF events and finding his way onto rosters of Germany's top level teams. In the 2000's Svend found his way to Calgary and began working as a skills coach, having worked with a variety of programs, including Hockey Canada's development programs. Svend is not only a world class skills coach but has taken on personal/life coaching certifications as well, making him a high level coach players can connect with and learn from on a variety of levels.

GDI was founded by Kevin Swanson who has been coaching goaltenders in Calgary for over 17 years now. GDI now operates in arenas around the city providing 1-on-1 lessons, Academy Programs, Association Clinics, Xmas Camps, Summer Camps, Coaching Clinics and much more.

Kevin studied and worked under Ian Clark (current Vancouver Canucks Goalie Coach) for over 5 years to develop a logical and progressive curriculum of skills that is updated yearly as the position evolves.

The goaltending position is complex and has evolved immensely over the last 10+plus years and GDI continues to be the front- line of innovation and teaching within the goaltending community. As we know, the position of goal is critical to team success and, in most cases, provides the greatest single input to this team success.

With this in mind, it is vital that we provide a comprehensive development approach for their goaltenders.
